

St Hilda's School

HARPENDEN

Caring, Curious & Confident

CENTRAL PRINCIPLES AND SCHOOL AIMS

St Hilda's School is an independent day school for girls and boys between the age of 2½ and 4, and for girls from 4 to 11.

At St Hilda's School, we welcome all pupils irrespective of race, religion, culture or disability.

Christian values and an appreciation of British values are essential to the life of the school and our core values are those of tolerance, respect for others, integrity, industry and achievement.

Our aim is to achieve the highest standard of education in a happy, safe and purposeful working environment, instilling in all pupils a love of learning, independent thinking and good manners.

We strive to nurture each pupil's individuality, developing talent and ability to the full.

Our Aims:

Teaching and Learning

- To deliver a first-class education, which will allow each child to maximise their potential.

Pastoral Care

- To provide a happy and secure environment, based on Christian values, in which every child can thrive and achieve.

Social, Moral, Spiritual and Cultural Development

- To instill a sense of confidence, independence and responsibility throughout the school community.

Extra-Curricular

- To provide a broad range of activities beyond the curriculum.

Broader Issues

- As a family community, to foster the qualities of good manners, respect for others and ourselves.
- To be an active participant in the local, national and international community.

Partnerships with parents

- To ensure that parents are welcomed at the school and that their views are encouraged and acknowledged.
